

SEJONG UNIVERSITY

School of Business

98 Gunja-dong, Gwangjin-gu, Seoul 143-747, Korea

Tel: 82-2-3408-3310/1 Fax: 82-2-3408-4310

---

To Whom It May Concern

RE Kim Sangbum, Brice

I am very pleased to document my relationship with Kim Sangbum and recommend him for study and work. He served as my office/teaching assistant, and as my student, at Sejong University, where I taught from 2010 to 2016.

He was a student in several of my classes in marketing and international business. He was a faithful and creative student who showed interest in the subject matter covered and completed the course requirements. He has a quick mind and an ability to engage thoughtfully with the concepts of economics and administration. He is able to understand and apply the relevant materials and to test and improve them. He constantly seeks career directions which will employ his skills. In addition, he seeks alternative learning settings (readings, interviews, conferences) in which to foster his development.

He served in my office at Sejong on a voluntary basis to help me prepare course materials, organize reports and meetings, and to handle student requests. His help was invaluable in a fast paced and busy environment. He was able to assume discretion and judgment in completing assignments on his own; and he provided good insights to help me in decision making. I found him to be a thoughtful, respectful, polite person who shows great loyalty.

I have continued to maintain contact with him since completing my work at Sejong and hope that our contact will continue during his career.

I would recommend him to you and would stand by to offer further support or information.

SEJONG UNIVERSITY

School of Business

98 Gunja-dong, Gwangjin-gu, Seoul 143-747, Korea

Tel: 82-2-3408-3310/1 Fax: 82-2-3408-4310

Sincerely

Theodore O. Wallin

Emeritus Professor, Syracuse University

Professor/Co Dean Emeritus

Sejong University

Email: towallin@syr.edu